Welcome to the City of Wilsonville's virtual art tour. We'll visit Town Center Park, the Wilsonville Public Library, Wilsonville Transit Center and other sites within Wilsonville, showcasing City-owned art and other publicly-accessible installations. Enjoy!
Town Center Park

29600 Park Place Court

Our first stop is Town Center Park, a popular five-acre urban park located in the heart of Wilsonville's commercial district that includes several can't-miss pieces.
Apachie

It’s hard to miss Apachie, the life-sized sculpture who greets visitors to Town Center Park and the Parks & Recreation Administration Building (at the intersection of SW Courtside Drive and Park Place).
Located at the intersection of SW Courtside Drive and Park Place, this life-sized sculpture greets everyone visiting Town Center.
Town Center Park Water Feature

Town Center Park is one of three local parks designed by Robert Murase (Murase and Associates); the park's signature element is its beautiful and distinctive water feature.
Friendship

Visitors heading north on Park Place will find a sculpted stone with an imbedded plaque.
The stone and the cherry trees planted nearby were placed in October 1998 to commemorate the 10-year anniversary of Sister City relationship between Wilsonville and Kitakata, Japan.
Continuing on the path, our next piece towers among the trees.
Oregon Korean War Memorial

Within steps of Guardian stands Oregon’s lasting monument to the sacrifice of Korean civilians and the 60,000 Oregonians who fought in the conflict from 1950-53.
The granite wall, 109 feet in length, includes the names of 298 Oregonians who died or were listed as missing from the war.
Oregon Korean War Memorial

Completed in 2000, the memorial hosts annual remembrance ceremonies on Memorial Day and Veterans Day in conjunction with the Oregon chapter of the Korean War Veterans Association.
Flags of the United States, South Korea, United Nations, POW/MIA and the State of Oregon are flown from 30’ poles
General Douglas MacArthur

Our final Town Center Park stop is the bronze statue honoring General Douglas MacArthur, commissioned by the Korean War Memorial Foundation of Oregon.
Bronze statue, sculpted stone
Artist: Nick Christensen

Installed in 2017, the statue honors the American five-star general who served as Commander in Chief of United Nations Forces in Korea, July 8, 1950-April 11, 1951.

29363 Town Center Loop E

This sculpture is located at the Wilsonville campus of Clackamas Community College
City Hall

29799 Town Center Loop E

Wilsonville City Hall has a first-floor gallery available to view during business hours. Additionally, within Council Chambers, you will find a small tile mural that commemorates the completion of the Beauty and the Bridge project.
Learn more about the project by visiting the Beauty and the Bridge [link: https://www.ci.wilsonville.or.us/residents/page/i-5-artwork-beauty-bridge] website.

6800 Wilsonville Road

At the south end of Wilsonville High School, you'll find a truly one-of-a-kind piece.
Murase Plaza

8300 Memorial Drive

Wilsonville’s largest park, Memorial Park, is another distinctive outdoor space designed by Robert Murase and Associates.
Murase Plaza was conceived by Murase as a public gathering space, and includes an interactive water feature, restrooms, walking paths and seating areas

8200 Wilsonville Road

Across the street from Murase Plaza, the Wilsonville Library is the next stop on the tour.
Re-invention

This steel sculpture is visible from Wilsonville Road, near the Memorial Drive Intersection.
Flight of the Moon

Just a little further west on Wilsonville Road, at Rebekah Street, is our next piece.
Modern Flight

Heading south on Rebekah Street, you’ll find our next sculpture, which was installed in 2011 by the Arts and Culture Alliance of Wilsonville.
Peace Pole

Our final outdoor Library stop is located just a bit further south on Rebekah Street.
The pole, donated by Wilsonville Rotary, includes the words “May Peace Prevail on Earth” in several languages. It’s one of more than 200,000 peace poles that exist in 200+ countries worldwide.
Wilsonville, Circa 1910

Head inside the Library for a look at “Wilsonville, Circa 1910” the signature item in the library’s art collection. The piece is a fine example of intarsia, a woodworking method that uses varied shapes, sizes and colors to create a mosaic with the illusion of depth.
Additionally, the library has monthly exhibits on the Art Gallery wall and displays about 70 additional pieces. Visit during business hours or click here (link: https://www.wilsonvillelibrary.org/lib/page/art-collection) to learn more about the Library’s collection.

Wilsonville Road and I-5 Interchange Underpass

Moving west on Wilsonville Road, the next installation is best appreciated on foot or by bike.

The I-5 underpass on Wilsonville Road was transformed in 2012 with art created by Wilsonville students. The project, in conjunction with road improvements, was designed to make walking/cycling more inviting.
Beauty and the Bridge

At the Lowrie Shopping Center, Boones Ferry Road
Welded fabricated steel sculpture
Artist: Wesley Bullock

The sculpture is privately owned by the Killian and Lowrie families, but is on permanent display at the Boones Ferry Road SMART stop.
McMenamin's Wilsonville Old Church

30340 Boones Ferry Road

Across Boones Ferry Road, you'll find the Old Church, which has been converted to a restaurant and event venue.
Stained glass windows
Artist: David Schlicker, Dan Woodard

The Old Church was vacant for years and the glass windows were vandalized. Schlicker, a Portland-based artist, was tasked with restoring the pre-1930s, rose caramel opalescent glass windows.
Schlicker restored the broken panes with German crystals crafted by Dan Woodward, which cast rainbows in the sunlight. Some panes were made to look broken so that all the windows match.

9699 Barber Street

Wilsonville's transit hub is home to SMART buses, WES train service and several pieces of art worth seeing.
Clock Tower
The Clock Tower portrays a mature cherry tree surrounded by birds and insects; the design is inspired by trees found in Wilsonville’s sister city of Kitakata, Japan.

At dusk, the 35-foot tower lights up from bottom to top, illuminating the color stained glass details; imbedded speakers provide musical accompaniment.
Bus Shelters

Across the bus loop, there are two shelters featuring colorful, whimsical foliage
Accent Panels
A few steps away from the clock tower, the same artist has crafted custom accent panels on the door to the SMART Transit Operations building.

Like the Clock Tower, these nine-foot-high panels illuminate at night and feature the cherry tree, birds and insects.
Let's Dance
As visitors continue toward the WES platform, they'll find it hard to miss this stunning piece.
The Wilsonville Interactivator
Located on the WES platform, the Interactivator is one of a five of 'Interactivators', located at each of the WES stops.
Each figure on the track is moveable, making it a dynamic and engaging piece.

Coming soon!

El Viento will be installed in the coming months at the Wilsonville Transit Center’s entrance to greet commuters.
Collaborative Art on the move!

Student artists were commissioned to design artistic wraps for the two new SMART electric buses. Wilsonville High School art teacher Christopher Shotola-Hardt and Arts & Technology High School art teacher Philip Glass mentored students in this collaborative effort.
Students presenters, December 17, 2018

The students presented their final design, which incorporates familiar sights in Wilsonville, during a City Council work session.

SMART Transit is committed to fostering creativity and collaboration with Wilsonville students. Learn more at SMART Art (link: https://www.ridesmart.com/transit/page/smart-art).
